WELCOME

Dear Colleagues,

It is an honor to co-host the 2026 Clinical Society of Genitourinary Surgeons meeting. We look forward to welcoming you to the UC San Diego Department of Urology and UC San Diego Health Sciences over the next couple of days. We hope you love the accommodations at the Estancia. Tomorrow evening we will have a special treat; a tour and dinner on the USS Midway. San Diego's connection to the US Navy and Marine Corps influences our community and is a source of pride. The strong biotechnology community in San Diego strongly influences Health Sciences and our UC San Diego research community. You will hear from some of our most distinguished scientists and leaders in the research on longevity, the microbiome and AI. Also, UC San Diego has a strong connection to the world famous San Diego Zoo and Safari Park. You will hear about that connection and San Diego's leadership in endangered species research and preservation. Finally we will celebrate together in one of our most beautiful venues, overlooking beautiful La Jolla Shores.

Welcome and please reach out to us if we can provide any assistance throughout your stay.

Warmly,
Chris and Manoj

GUEST SPEAKERS

Rolf Benirschke

Rolf Benirschke spent 10 seasons as a placekicker for the San Diego Chargers, earning All-Pro and Pro Bowl honors, Comeback Player of the Year, and the NFL's prestigious Man of the Year (Walter Payton Award). Early in his career, he battled inflammatory bowel disease and underwent life-saving ostomy surgery before making a remarkable return to play seven more seasons. Since retiring, Rolf has become a nationally recognized patient advocate, founding Legacy Health Strategies and the nonprofit Embracing Ostomy Life. He also serves as chairman of the San Diego Zoo Wildlife Alliance, works with UC San Diego Health on culture and the patient experience, supports numerous local charities, and is the author of four books. He and his wife, Mary, have four grown children, three with special needs.

Rob Knight, PhD

Dr. Knight is the founding Director of the UC San Diego Center for Microbiome Innovation and a Professor of Pediatrics, Bioengineering, and Computer Science & Engineering, as well as the Wolfe Family Endowed Chair in Microbiome Research at Rady Children's Hospital. A pioneer of modern microbiome science, he co-founded the American Gut Project and the Earth Microbiome Project and developed many of the computational tools that made large-scale microbiome research possible, including QIIME and UniFrac. During the pandemic, he led UC San Diego's COVID-19 wastewater surveillance program. He is a member of the National Academy of Engineering and a recipient of the NIH Director's Pioneer Award. His research links microbes to human health and global environments, advancing high-throughput microbiome science worldwide.

Karandeep Singh, MD, MMSc

Karandeep Singh, MD, MMSc is the Executive Director of the Joan and Irwin Jacobs Center for Health Innovation, Chief Health AI Officer for UC San Diego Health, and Joan and Irwin Jacobs Chancellor's Endowed Chair and Associate Professor of Medicine in Biomedical Informatics at UC San Diego. In these roles, Dr. Singh oversees AI strategy and governance for the health system and leads AI initiatives within the Jacobs Center for Health Innovation. He completed his internal medicine residency at UCLA Medical Center, where he served as chief resident, and a nephrology fellowship in the combined Brigham and Women's Hospital and Massachusetts General Hospital program. He completed his medical education at the University of Michigan Medical School and holds a master's degree in medical sciences in Biomedical Informatics from Harvard Medical School.

Anthony J.A. Molina, PhD

Anthony J.A. Molina, PhD, is a Professor of Medicine at UC San Diego, Scientific Director of the Stein Institute for Research on Aging and the UC San Diego Center for Healthy Aging, and Research Chief of the Division of Geriatrics, Gerontology, and Palliative Care. He also holds the Ben and Wanda Hildyard Endowed Chair for Mitochondrial and Metabolic Diseases. Dr. Molina leads a translational and clinical research program focused on promoting healthy longevity and advancing precision healthcare for older adults. His research examines how mitochondrial function, metabolism, and other biological factors influence cognitive and physical function with age, with the goal of developing better biomarkers, interventions, and strategies to enhance resilience. He earned his PhD in Neuroscience from the University of Illinois Chicago and completed postdoctoral training at Harvard Medical School.
