GUEST SPEAKERS

MARCUS REDIKER

Marcus Rediker is Distinguished Professor of Atlantic History at the University of Pittsburgh. His “histories from below” have won numerous awards and been translated into 18 languages worldwide. He is the author of a dozen books, including The Slave Ship: A Human History (2007), which won the George Washington Book Prize. He also produced a prize-winning documentary film, Ghosts of Amistad (2014), directed by Tony Buba. Currently, he is writing a book about escaping slavery by sea in antebellum America, to be published by Viking Penguin in 2024.

GUEST SPEAKERS

DR. MICHAEL COLLINS

Michael “Micky” Collins, PhD, is the Clinical and Executive Director of the UPMC Sports Medicine Concussion Program, focusing on the diagnosis, evaluation, and management of sports-related mild traumatic brain injury. He has been a lead author on several major groundbreaking studies of high school and college athletes published in JAMA, Neurosurgery, American Journal of Sports Medicine, and Pediatrics and was the co-lead author of the Centers for Disease Control’s “Concussion Tool Kit for Physicians.” In 2005, the North American Brain Injury Society recognized Dr. Collins with the annual Innovations in Treatment Award. As a concussion expert, he is an advisor for numerous athletic organizations, including USA Rugby, USA Lacrosse, and Cirque De Soleil.

ZACHARY CHASE LIPTON

Zachary Lipton is an Assistant Professor of Machine Learning at Carnegie Mellon University and the Chief Scientific Officer of Abridge. He directs the Approximately Correct Machine Intelligence (ACMI) lab, focusing on theoretical and engineering foundations of robust and adaptive machine learning algorithms, applications to both prediction and decision-making problems in clinical medicine, natural language processing, and the impact of machine learning systems on society. A key theme in his work is to take advantage of causal structure underlying the observed data while producing algorithms that are compatible with the modern deep learning power tools that dominate practical applications. He is the founder of the Approximately Correct blog and a co-author of Dive Into Deep Learning, an interactive open-source book drafted entirely through Jupyter notebooks. Find him on X (@zacharylipton) or GitHub (@zackchase).
